HILO, FREAR AND CARFARE THIRTY THOUSAND HOMES ARE FLOODED

APPEAL TO FREAR FOR SMALL CHANGE

Governor Frear, in addition to numerous other matters of weight which occupy his attention these days, is confronted with an interesting proposition from the Honolulu Rapid Transit & Land Company which desires or requests that he approve a regulation of the line to the effect that the conductors of the Rapid Transit will not be compelled to make change for anything greater than two dollars.

The request is probably based on regulations in vogue in many places in the mainland states where two-dollar bills are used. There are no two-dollar bills in Honolulu, or, if there are, they are as scarce as finding twenty dollar gold pieces in the gutter.

The governor, of course, can make the limit himself. He can make it a dollar or a five-dollar gold piece limit when it comes to saying to what extent the polite conductors of the Rapid Transit shall make change for the patrons of the line.

It seems that tourists often hand out ten-dollar and twenty-dollar coins or bills for five cent fares and this custom very much embarrasses a conductor and sometimes discommodates the entire system of trolleys. The schedule has even been thrown out of whack by a conductor on one car stopping a car from the opposite direction on a switch and begging change from his fellow workman.

The conductors don't carry over $25 in change and there is a question, it seems, as to whether this change is supplied by the Rapid Transit or whether the conductor himself must supply it.

The moral is to have a five-cent piece when you board a car.

HILO WILL GET WHARF LICENSE

That the Superintendent of Public Works, Marston Campbell, will grant license to the Hilo Railroad Company to build a wharf which will "help Hilo grow," and that Governor Frear will approve such action on the part of Superintendent Campbell is practically certain.

Both gentlemen were seen this morning and, though neither would say anything definite, they at the time being in consultation on that very subject, the inference mutually allowed was that Hilo will get her wharf, private ownership or not, and that the approaches and all else involved would be satisfactorily arranged.

A remark was made by Marston Campbell which in effect means that everything will be done for the "general interest" and that the will of the Hilo people will be respected, honored and obeyed.

The sentiment seemed to be: "What are we here for except to give the people what they want?"

In a Hilo mass meeting on Saturday last the following resolutions were adopted:

Be it resolved, that we, citizens of Hilo, Island of Hawaii, in public meeting duly called to consider the license to build a wharf in Hilo harbor proposed to be issued by the Superintendent of Public Works to the

Hilo Railroad Company, after full consideration of said proposed license, are of the opinion that the public interests are fully and properly protected by the terms of said license, and that the same should be promptly issued;

But we suggest and request that, to more clearly set forth the public right of access to said wharf, the following clause be added to section 7 of said proposed license, viz:

"Provided, however, that the company shall not make any rules and regulations nor do any act which will in any way bar the public from access to and ingress and egress to and from said wharf over any public approach to said wharf during ordinary business hours, and at the time of arrival or departure of any ship docking at said wharf."

And be it further resolved, that in our opinion, there should be a proper wagon road to said wharf, when built; and we hereby request that the Governor and the Superintendent of Public Works will recommend to the Legislature an appropriation for such purpose and hereby request our Senators and Representatives to also work for such appropriation.

And be it further resolved, that the Chair of this meeting is hereby instructed to forward a copy of these resolutions to the Governor.

No Hope For Helga

The British barkentine Helga which went ashore early yesterday morning off Waikiki, is nearly in the same position as she was last night.

The heavy surf which has been running for the past two or three days is continually breaking over the wrecked vessel. No attempt has been made to save anything from the doomed ship as it is dangerous to go near her while she is pounding.

Captain Miller, who will save the ship, has decided to wait until the sea moderates before he attempts to strip her of her rigging and the other things that are worth taking.

The bow which is pointed toward Waikiki, is on the reef at least ten feet further than she was early this morning, according to a native fisherman who went out to see if there was anything floating about that was worth saving.

he crew expect to be paid off some time today and will ship on the first vessel they can for the mainland.

From what can be learned the ship was not insured, though the coal was insured.

Captain Wall could not be found this morning to give his account of the voyage that ended in disaster, or to deny or confirm the stories of bad treatment circulated by the crew.

NO LAND MEETING ACCUSED ARRAIGNED

Though Land Commissioner Marston Campbell, Stenographer Miss Bernice Dwight and Land Board Member Sam Dwight, and a Star reporter waited half an hour or more last evening for the land board to hold a meeting in the capitol, there was nothing doing, the meeting having been forgotten or called off by the other members for some reason, though there was plenty of important work to be done.

FAMOUS VIOLINIST
